Tom Langton Fund helps 'put the wind in the sails' of a lodge donation

The Hampshire & Isle of Wight Masonic Grand Charity, better known as the Tom Langton Fund recently boosted a donation by Cerdic Lodge in Bournemouth to provide a new sail for one of the new boats purchased by the Hengistbury Head Outdoor Education Centre. Based on Christchurch Harbour, the Centre provide sailing, windsurfing and many other activities to the local community in the SW Area. The sail has the Square and Compasses emblazoned on it underlined with 'Hampshire and Isle of Wight Freemasons'.

As well as providing access to sailing to local schools, their adult classes are very popular. Cerdic Lodge member Hamish Gracie (pictured right) has been learning to sail there over the past year and he took the Provincial Webmaster, Peter Martin (left), out on the water to during one of the sessions held on Wednesday evenings for adults.

Some representatives of the Centre will be attending the Freemasonry in the Community Celebration Evening in Bournemouth on 9th June. More information about the centre can be found at:
